COUNTER PROPOSITION

Submitted by Executive Committee Regarding a Council Primary

Action Upon Good Government League's Request Last Night—The League Adheres to Its Proposition for a Day Primary—To Be Submitted to the Clubs.

The City Executive Committee held a meeting last night at which the request of the City League for Good Government for a day primary for the selection of a Council ticket was again taken up and acted upon.

Captain W. W. Dey, the chairman of the committee, who took a neutral position on the question at last week's meeting of the committee, made a speech last night advocating the granting of the request embodied in the letter of Colonel Nash to the committee, asking that a day primary be ordered. He said he believed it was to the interest of the Democratic party of Norfolk that this be done, and upon the committee to pursue this course.

Mr. Nat Dalby moved that the request for a day primary be granted. This was seconded by Mr. John Kelly. Colonel Sale asked if it was intended that the plan of a primary recommended by the City League for Good Government be adopted in detail, and Captain Dey replied that it would be proper at that time simply to pass upon the general proposition for a day primary.

SUBSTITUTE OFFERED. Mr. Thomas J. Randolph offered a substitute to Mr. Dalby's motion to the effect that a night primary be ordered, and that to overcome one of the objections to this plan urged by the City League for Good Government, namely, that of congestion at the polls, the committee order two voting places opened in each ward instead of one.

Mr. Oberdorfer wanted to know if this was legal, and Mr. Randolph replied that he had carefully looked into the matter, and was satisfied that the committee could order a voting place in each precinct, the same as at a general election. He urged the adoption of his substitute, saying that he had talked with a number of leading Democrats who believed as he did. He laid special emphasis upon the fact that there would be no way of preventing illegal voters from participating in the day primary in the wards, as such a primary is not legalized, save for the selection of the salary of officers.

Mr. Dalby made the point that day primaries in the wards was at least a fairer method than ward mass meetings.

COMPROMISE SUGGESTED. While speaking for his substitute, Mr. Randolph made the statement that he had presented his plan to Colonel Nash, who had favored it individually. This led to a motion by Mr. Knapp, who favored the day primary, that both the plan for the day primary and that for the night primary be submitted to the City League for Good Government for an expression as between the two plans. He spoke for harmony, as did several others.

Mr. R. M. Dozier wanted to know where harmony was coming from. He said he thought the City League for Good Government was antagonistic to the Democratic party.

Mr. Johnston protested against any action whatever in regard to the matter at last night's meeting. The discussion grew rather lively. Mr. John Whitehead, who was present, asked the privilege of offering a suggestion, which was allowed him. He suggested that the two plans for a primary also be submitted to the other Democratic clubs of the city, as well as the City League for Good Government. Mr. Knapp accepted this suggestion, and included it in his motion.

The vote was unanimous in referring the matter to the City League for Good Government and the Democratic clubs of the city. Mr. Randolph and Colonel Sale were appointed to convey this intelligence to the City League for Good Government, then in session at the old Baptist Church, corner Cumberland and Holt streets.

AT LOGGERSHEADS.

The City League for Good Government did not receive kindly the action of the Executive Committee, as evidenced by last night's discussion of that matter. The action of the committee was conveyed to the league by a messenger, and Colonel Nash, vacating the chair, made a speech, taking the committee to task for its alleged evasion of the issue in question. Several other speeches were made along the same line, and a motion was offered that the league stand by its former action in demanding a day primary. This was greeted with applause. The motion was amended to the effect that the league resolve that if a day primary was refused, the league would name a Council ticket to be voted for in the general election.

POLITICAL MEETINGS. GREAT ACTIVITY AMONG THE DEMOCRATIC CLUBS LAST NIGHT.

Among the clubs which held rallies last night were the John S. Barbour Club, of the First Ward; the City League for Good Government, and the Fourth Ward Democratic Club.

The former meeting was well attended, but brief, and several enthusiastic speeches were made. Captain E. H. Cunningham presided, and Mr. R. C. McClain acted as secretary. Messrs. A. Marx and J. Arnold Dalby and Dr. Macdonald were made the speakers.

The meeting of the City League for Good Government was one of the largest held by that league since its organization. Several rousing speeches were made, and enthusiasm ran high.

RESOLUTION. The league voted to support in today's primary those candidates who are in sympathy with that organization as against those who are known to be antagonistic to it. The names of the former were read off, and in cases where there are too much running for the same office it was announced as the policy of the league to throw its support to neither in particular, but support the one who was in the second day's race.

The following resolution was adopted: "Whereas it appears by the evening papers that Colonel Wm. Lamb, the leader of one of the factions of the Republican party in this State, has undertaken to divide Democratic voters to support Hon. C. Brooks Johnston for re-election; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we urge upon every Democrat to consider carefully the source from which this advice comes and to remember that the gentleman who now presumes to advise them how to vote is not a member of our party, and is, therefore, not qualified to act as its adviser in so important a matter."

The resolution as first introduced contained what was considered by some as a reflection on Colonel Lamb, and Mr. R. W. Shultice and others objected to it in this form. Mr. Shultice stated that while he differed with Colonel Lamb in politics, that gentleman had done a great deal for the advancement of the city, and he was opposed to the league casting any reflection upon him. The original resolution was then referred to a committee composed of Judge James E. Heath, Mr. T. S. Purdie and Mr. G. Tayloe Gwaltney, and these gentlemen reported it back in the above form.

CHALLENGING COMMITTEES. Challenging committees for each voting place were appointed. Among the speakers were Colonel Nash, Judge Heath, Mr. I. A. Page, Mr. G. Tayloe Gwaltney, Mr. W. T. Anderson, Mr. John Cherry, Mr. L. Royster and others.

Law and Chancery Court. The Law and Chancery Court began its April term yesterday with Judge Allen R. Hanchell sitting for Judge Magan, who is confined to his home by sickness. Quite a large number of cases, mostly suits for damages, were docketed and set for trial.

A CARD. Fellow-Citizens: To-day will begin a primary for the election of a number of our city officials. The right to vote is a privilege which every citizen should endeavor to honor by casting his vote for the candidate whose daily life gives fair promise of an honest administration of the office he seeks. Let every man, therefore, make it a matter of conscience to exercise his best judgment in casting his ballot and spurn the candidate whose friends would offer directly or indirectly to corrupt the ballot which should be sacred to every citizen. All the offices are important. The writer has nothing against any candidate; but he does wish especially to commend to the people of this city the present Clerk of the Court, Mr. L. Royster. We have never had a more industrious, faithful and accommodating officer, and a failure to re-elect him would be a reflection upon the household suffrage. Mr. Royster is absolutely impartial in discharging the duties of his office, and is equally accommodating and respectful to all. Let the voters at large show their appreciation of an incorruptible and faithful officer by re-electing Mr. Royster as Clerk of the Court. CITIZEN. 17

ELKS' CARNIVAL.

Opened Last Night in a Brilliant Manner that Augurs Success.

Mayor Johnston Delivers an Address and Declares the Carnival Open—The Booths and Lady Attendants—Entertaining Program To-Night.

At last, after several months of planning and preliminary work, the anticipated fraternity of Norfolk opened the Elks' Carnival that will continue at Armory Hall for two weeks.

At 9 o'clock Chairman Fred G. Chisnell and Mayor C. Brooks Johnston stepped on the stage. In a few brief and well chosen words Mr. Chisnell thanked the ladies who have united to push the carnival to success and the local merchants and others who have been extremely liberal in contributions of cash and merchandise. He then introduced Mayor C. Brooks Johnston, who briefly prefaced his address, and then spoke as follows:

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS. "Mr. Chairman, You 'Best People on Earth.' Ladies and Gentlemen: 'No word of mine can add anything to your fame. Your many noble deeds, month by month and year by year, speak louder and better than the word of any man can do of your worth as an organization. The origin of man is not of as much importance to man as his destiny, so your origin as an order, interesting as it is and known to you much better than to me, is of little account when compared to your future. And should you continue in the paths you have marked out for yourselves up to this time that future must grow brighter and brighter, until the dazzling brilliancy of its unselfish and unostentatious charity shall brighten our entire land, and you shall indeed be as a city set upon a hill that cannot be hid."

"You Elks are very secretive in your habits, but when you do come out into the open, where the world may see you, you manage to present such an attractive appearance to our view that one is much tempted to strive to enter into your sanctum sanctorum and there imbibe of the elixir of fidelity, brotherly love and charity that appears to have its beneficent effect by which you are all transformed into more noble animals than before."

"Long life to your noble order and may the principles that bind you together find in your heart such fruitful soil and receive such careful culture that the abundant fruitage shall ever send forth its sweet odors upon all about you and bring higher happiness to your own lives."

"The object of the carnival should insure its success, and I call upon all our citizens to join with you in your high and noble efforts. Let the good work now begin."

The address was received with hearty applause. As he concluded Mayor Johnston pulled the big gong and declared the carnival formally open.

To crowd then drifted about to view the beautiful booths and enjoy the various attractions provided. All day yesterday the carpenters and decorators were busy and the result was that before the hour of opening chaos reigned place to order, and the great hall never before presented so tasteful and beautiful a scene.

THE BOOTHS. Beginning at the right as one enters is the largest booth of the bazaar. This is the ice-cream booth. It is decorated in red and white, and over the door is the beautiful pair of antlers owned by Norfolk Lodge of Elks. This booth is in charge of Mrs. Gordon De Cordy, Mrs. Bethel, Mrs. Hannah, Mrs. Lillie Walke, Mrs. R. B. Jones and Mrs. W. H. Venable. They are assisted by a bevy of the prettiest and most attractive young ladies in Norfolk. There are fifteen tables in the booth.

Next is the Elks' booth. This is presided over by Mrs. S. D. Puller and Mrs. W. A. Young. The decorations are of the Elks' colors—royal, purple and white. Noticeable at the front of the booth is the beautiful Elks' head taken from the Elks' Lodge room. The assistants are the Misses Mary and Emma Duncan, Mary Belle Glennan, Emma K. Allen, Etta Lee, Elizabeth Bowdoin and Marshall P. Page.

THE FORTUNE TELLER. An annex of the Elks' booth is the den of Madame Zantilli, the palmist and fortune teller. Plato says, "All things are in fate; yet all things are not decreed by fate." Madame Zantilli kindly consented to come over to Norfolk and assist the carnival by reading the palm, or telling by cards, the fortunes of those who ask her advice in affairs of love or business. This is not only a great opportunity to push aside the curtain of futurity to find for ourselves the road that leads to fortune, fame or love, or that these realms are not for us.

THE FISH POND. Next comes the fish pond, presided over by a fair angel in the person of Mrs. H. C. Wall, assisted by a number of young ladies. The pond is well stocked with fish of all kinds.

THE FANCY WORK BOOTH. This is one of the best stocked booths of the carnival, and in it are dozens of beautiful articles for the adornment of the home. This booth is in charge of Mesdames Chisnell, Aronheim, John Villis, Bennett, and the Misses Mary, Emma, Annie and Rose Summerfield, Helen Hirsch, Emma and Bertha Hess and Grace Dalton.

ICE CREAM BOOTH. Next, at the extreme left of the hall, near the stage, is ice cream booth No. 2. This is a very pretty booth. It is in charge of Mesdames James Belote, Peake, Steele, Stokely, assisted by the Misses Maggie Smith, Biddle Roper, Clara Fletcher, Maude Belote, Mary and Winnie Cherry, Madge Oshonout, Vivian Lowe, Edna Davis, Edna Lyman, Blanch Wasserman, Annie Hart, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Magler.

THE KLONDIKE. This is a novel booth, decorated in a striking manner in orange and gold. In the centre of the booth is a pile of sawdust, surrounded by a rocky barrier. Spades are provided and for 5 cents one may dig out his fortune from the pile of sawdust.

This is in charge of Mrs. D. Carpenter, Mrs. C. W. O'Neill and Mrs. A. A. O'Neill, assisted by the Misses Jessie

Price, Annie Dickson and Mrs. Wm. Ramsey.

FANCY TABLE. This is presided over by Mrs. Darius Gregory and Mrs. Frank Jacobs, assisted by Miss Sykes and a number of other young ladies. The special feature of this booth will be a large variety of Oriental goods that will be installed in the near future.

THE SUPPER TABLE. At the left of the entrance is the supper table, where tempting meals are served. This is in charge of Mrs. Geo. Pollard, Mrs. H. C. Smith, Mrs. John N. Wilkinson, Mrs. W. D. Roper, Mrs. Dr. Sutton, Mrs. Callender, Mrs. B. D. Fine and Mrs. C. L. Fine, assisted by a corps of attentive and attractive damsels.

THE PALM GARDEN. The feature, as one enters, is the beautiful palm garden of Mr. Lloyd G. Bilek. Here are many beautiful palms of various species, tastefully arranged in a beautiful booth of red and white. The booth is surmounted by the word welcome in electric lights.

THE CIGAR STAND. Back of the palm garden is the cigar stand, where the lover of the weed can get choice imported or domestic cigars and fine tobaccos. This is in charge of Miss Virgie Schaffer, Miss Eulah Denison, Miss Arnold, Miss Tucker and Mrs. Stewart.

THE COUNTRY STORE. This is a large booth with a central display stand, and is stocked with canned goods and various table delicacies. This is in charge of Mrs. R. D. Nichols and Mrs. C. P. Rudolph, assisted by the Misses Mamie Murray, Agnes and Grace Cartv, Lizzie Hart, Mamie Bell, Ehrmanntraut, Gerlie Green, Miss Lawler and Miss Say.

THE FANCY BOOTH. Next comes the fancy booth, in charge of Mrs. Harry Herman, Mrs. Dr. F. A. Walke, Mrs. J. H. Licht, assisted by Miss Etta Smith, Mrs. Thomas, Miss Lizzie Baker and Miss Edna Kahn.

THE CANDY BOOTH. This is at the extreme end of the central booths, and is stocked with choice candies of many kinds. Here there is a big wheel of fortune. This booth is presided over by Mrs. H. D. Oliver, Mrs. John E. Burke, Mrs. Phil. Malher, Mrs. James Hughes, Mrs. Neighbour, assisted by the Misses Hannah, Callan, Wood, Metger, Lilly and Mary Tarrall, Bedout, the Misses Hattons, Brownley, Hart and Miss Hanrahan.

THE DONATIONS. The following is a partial list of the donations to the fair: David Marks, of New York, $5; Richmond Manufacturing Company, of Richmond, 1 case "Good Luck" baking powder; Gordon DeCordy, Coal Company, 1 ton coal; Fred Kaufmann, of New York, silver toilet set, James Kock, John B. Loughran, handsome suite of furniture; S. L. Johns, McSherrytown, Pa., 8 boxes cigars; Roth, Bruner & Alet, Cincinnati, 2 boxes cigars; Monticello Distilling Company, case of whiskey; William Freeman, 1 picture; Chapman & Jakeman, 1 candelabra; Hoffheimer Shoe House, 1 pair leather shoes; R. J. Malbon, 1 box cigars.

ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT. To-night B. Percy Alley, one of the favorite entertainers of our city, will delight those present by some of his fine work.

Mrs. George W. Bethel, who needs no introduction to the Norfolk public, will sing a beautiful contralto song. She is always listened to with great interest, and no doubt will add new laurels to her already large number of admirers.

The program will end with an illustrated song, put on by the Duncan-Crowell Minstrel Quartette. This is a new feature in the entertainment, and will be greatly enjoyed.

Easter Monday at the Park. Several thousand people, mainly ladies and children, assembled yesterday afternoon at the City Park to enjoy the beautiful spring day. The children enjoyed egg rolling on the water front, and there were also egg hunts. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.
